

Markey Read

Markey Read is President of Career Networks and has been providing career and employment services in Vermont since 1990. She designs and delivers employment and career coaching services and workshops to individuals and business groups, including internal Professional Development Programs and Outplacement assistance throughout New England.

Markey assists organizations in addressing the challenges of growing a business from the early entrepreneurial days through the mature industry leadership stages of development.

She is committed to creating effective workgroups and teams so that everyone can experience true satisfaction in their careers. She addresses workplace dynamics from a team and leadership development perspective and brings a rich background of creative facilitation and practical implementation. Markey also designs and delivers employment and career development services to individuals and business groups and regularly presents at local and regional conferences on related topics.

Markey is the developer and author of the Alchemical Leadership Development Tool Kit®, a certified FlexTalk trainer and innovative trainer for the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator and related MBTI workshops. She has a Masters Degree in Leadership & Group Dynamics from University of Vermont and a Bachelor's Degree in Communications from Santa Clara University in California.
